

Welcome, let's pray.

Jesus, let every word spoken be anointed by the Holy Spirit and that every person will listen with their spiritual ears and hear the truth of God's Word. Jesus help the people of America and especially American Christians to not be deceived by enticing words and empty promises of evil men with evil agendas seeking to be elected in 2020. Jesus by divine revelation help the people to realize that now is the time to seek God and righteousness for America. I pray for God's divine and perfect will in the 2020 local, state, and federal elections for the United States of America. I pray that you will re-establish Godly righteousness in the men and women of the American government and those who have authority over us. I bind the principalities and powers of darkness and spiritual wickedness and their evil proxies on earth and every enemy of the United States of America that seeks to destroy our nation founded on Godly principles and Biblical values. For it is written, whatsoever I bind on earth will be bound in heaven. I pray this teaching on your Word will not return void, but it will accomplish the purposes of God for which it was sent. In Jesus name, Amen.

I am going to continue to teach on Matthew 24 verse 4 this week.

Mat 24:4 And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take heed that no man deceive you.

I want to ask you some questions and see if you really know the truth about some of the political promises and propaganda that is being floated around. Where do you get your political ideas and facts? Who are you listening to regarding the platforms of each political party? How do you decide who to vote for? Is it because of commentary on the news or a headline that is tweeted across your phone or from your friends influence on Face Book or from a college professor or an organization that you joined because you felt left out and lonely?

Would you even realize it, if you were being deceived and manipulated? What real facts and truths do you know about the issues and the people on the ballot in this election? Do you really care what direction this country goes in and do you really know the motives behind the issues that certain politicians want to address.

For example, why is climate change and the Green New Deal such important issues in America. Yes, America has done its share of damaging the environment, but what about the socialist countries that are doing very little to help the planet. It is not a secret that China is one of the biggest polluters in the world and Russia is not far behind. But some candidates during this election expect Americans to cough up $2 trillion dollars in additional taxes to fight global warming and they expect us to give up excellent paying energy jobs and they want America to destroy energy production in America that keeps us independent of foreign oil producers that are not our friends and which threatens our national security and sovereignty and independence and our children's future.

Why should America bankrupt our nation to fight a battle that cannot be won until China and Russia and other nations are willing to stop belching out black smoke from millions of buses and industrial plants. I have been in Beijing China. I have walked the streets in many of China's largest cities. I have driven miles out to the countryside to walk on the Great Wall and the pollution is so bad that you can hardly breath and there is a thick smokey smog for miles around China's cities. You can see the dense cloud of smog miles above the atmosphere as you fly into these cities. I am for a cleaner and healthier planet but there are limits to what America and the American taxpayer can do alone.

The truth is that we should clean up our national environment because we care about having clean air, water, and ecosystem for our own enjoyment and health. Not because we are going to commit some worldwide overhaul of the environment which is impossible until the real problem countries decide to clean up their own environment. That is why the Green New Deal is a false promise that neither our president nor our congress has power to control or to actually deliver even if we bankrupt ourselves by spending $2 trillion in hard earned tax dollars to try.

Wake up America. Wake up young Americans. Wake up Christians. There is a very real evil agenda being promoted by the Climate Change Mob. Also, I don't need some little girl from Sweden to try and shame me into caring about the environment or lecture me. Honestly, her exaggerated emotional tantrums remind me of the brainwashing they did to the Hitler youth during World War II. But the main reason to not listen to this little girl is because she is being influence and sponsored to go around the world and lecture and spue her climate change religion by a massive Public Relations machine controlled by major international groups with major financial backing. The media would have you to believe that her rise to prominence happened naturally. She was not just discovered by accident, sitting in front of the Swedish Parliament protesting quietly about climate change. If you are gullible enough to believe that, then you really need this teaching on "Be not deceived". Because that is simply not true.

Although this little girl may be really concerned about cleaning up the planet her message is being crafted by powerful international interests in order to appeal to our youth and brainwash them into believing that we are becoming extinct and killing our planet. This little girl is just a puppet for a major marketing campaign trying to push global warming and climate change through very specific tactics of fear, alarm, panic, and mechanisms of terror. Her sponsors don't care about the environment, they only care about the power and control and financial gain that climate change legislation will give them over our lives and independence and choices.

Global warming is part of the one world globalist agenda. Let me explain how a few powerful people go about setting an agenda. They select a relevant issue and create public awareness through the media. Then they manipulate the data, they frame the story, and create fake news about the issue. They filter out any truth or twist the truth to suit their agenda. Once they have crafted their false message or crisis, then they focus the media day after day on that one issue until the public begins to believe that is urgent and begin to perceive the fake crisis is a real crisis. Climate change is a classic example of setting an agenda by making the public perceive that it is more important and critical than it really is. Media companies are primarily owned by a handful of media moguls and therefore it is easy to immerse the whole world in a false narrative about global warming. It plainly brainwashing on a massive scale. That is one reason I do not agree with global warming theory per se because the truth doesn't need the mass media and major PR firms and little girls to manipulate us and brainwash us with fear and panic. The truth doesn't have to manufacture a worldwide movement out of nothing. That is why I believe climate change is a sinister and evil agenda and that we must reject the Green New Deal and whoever is promoting it in this country or has it as a part of their political platform in the 2020 elections.

Now you are probably saying that is a pretty strong statement, but the plot thickens. There is evidence that the next big push by this elite and powerful globalist movement is to make protecting the earth like a new religion. The true believers of climate change already refer to their movement in those terms. Yes, the climate change elite call Climate change the new religion. Here are some ideas floated by Mary Evelyn Tucker, a senior lecturer for the Forum of Religion and Ecology at Yale University on a Council of Foreign Relations conference call. Ms. Tucker says the climate change movement is wanting to draw on the moral force of religion to bring about climate change action and thinking and writing. In other words, they want to brainwash the public into action over climate change.

They want to brainwash us and to make us "true believers". In my opinion, it sounds a lot like going back to worshipping the sun and moon and stars and mother earth. But wait a minute isn't that what pagans do. Also, don't pagans sacrifice their children and virgins to the sun gods or volcano gods??? Are we really thinking about taking these so-called highly educated elitists seriously?? Well if America spends $2 trillion on climate change, we are sacrificing our children's future on the altar of Climate Change because we are burdening them with overwhelming debt that we already can't pay.

But Ms. Tucker had more to say. She then explains that religions have been slow to react to climate change issues, but that scientists and policy makers have been working on them for some time. However, these climate change people feel that the influence of religion is absolutely necessary. The climate change community is recruiting church leaders from all over the world. Also, they have decided to concentrate on Christian church leaders. They have made climate change or Earth Ethics part of the curriculum at many theological seminaries. This is called the Greening of seminaries and has been going on for 15 years. Even priests are focusing on climate change in their homilies. The climate change crowd have gotten the leader of 800 million Greek Orthodox to call harming the environment an ecological sin and a crime against creation. Now I don't know about you but that kind of religious talk is scary.

Ms. Tucker, went on to say that even the Pope made an encyclical address to many Christian churches asking for all peoples of the world to come together in a sense of climate justice, of ecojustice, and create synergy between the people and the planet. This is because they believe that the most vulnerable and poor will be most affected by climate change and that their ecosystems are being destroyed. The climate change mob has been working on this idea for 12 to 15 years. Which clearly indicates that they have altered their strategy in order to really brainwash even our church leaders into supporting their climate change religion.

Ms. Tucker admits that the climate change believers are moving from just theological statements and protest, but to action. She went on to say that one strategy was to tap into the financial leverage of religious institutions. By this the climate change group are putting pressure on religious communities to pull their finances from projects that support oil exploration and even pipelines. They have pressured many religious institutions and even 150 Catholic foundations pledged to pull their money. The climate change mob calls this movement—Divest and invest movement.

Ms. Tucker added that once these religious institutions take their money out of oil and gas projects or divest, that then they should invest in green technology, alternative energy, and so far, $14 trillion has now been committed to this climate movement. In addition, they have a movement called Stop the Money Pipeline. With Stop the Money Pipeline movement they are pressuring large financial institutions like JP Morgan and the BlackRock investment firm from continuing to invest in oil and pipeline projects. This moral force of divestment is contributing to the collapse of oil prices and the climate change crowd is applauding this as progress.

No, the Green New Deal, Climate Change, and global warming are just one more step to the creation of a one world government ruled by power hungry and greedy politicians who will all come together to save the world for climate change, of course. They don't care who they hurt. They are creating a generation of youth full of anxiety and fear. Remember, God does not give us a spirit of fear. The fear component and the threats to anyone who dares to criticize or disagree with the climate changers reminds me of how people were treated by medieval powers when they questioned if the earth was flat or if the earth was the center of the solar system. Evil empires always use fear and terror to force a people into submission. Even if climate change is a real issue, I don't like the way it is being "sold" to the public. Pollution needs to be discussed rationally and go directly to the ones that are polluting our planet. So why is the climate change issue pushing fear and division, it is because it is not about making the planet better. It is about control and submission and money and power. It has an evil, antichrist, one world government agenda hoping that a fearful world will beg "the beast" government to fix it.

God bless and do not be deceived!

Do you really know how fairly women and homosexuals are treated in those type of countries? Do you really know what opportunities are given to people of color? Do you really know how native indigenous tribes and peoples are treated? Have you seen the way prisoners or the people of occupied countries are treated? Why are women from these socialist and communist countries willing to marry an American man that they do not even know or love and move away from their families and escape these places if they are such a utopia and wonderful society to live in and if they felt like they had a bright and free future of their own choice. Do you want a socialist government that will eventually take most of your individual rights and freedoms? Oh, did I mention that socialist governments also take most of your money and they tell you in what manner of lifestyle you and your family should live.

Have you ever travelled to Russia or China? Have you ever really seen how those people live? Have you ever talked to them about how well their health care works, or the choices offered to them for an education, or how free they are to criticize their leaders or how much of their income is taken in taxes and how fairly those taxes are redistributed to the citizens of the nation?

Well I have actually visited socialist, communist, and socialist democratic countries and I have talked to the everyday people that live under those governments and I have visited them in their homes. The people that live in those countries will tell you that the government having so much control over your life is very oppressive and you live in fear of any freedom of expression. They all have stories where a family member or a friend have been harassed or imprisoned or even executed because they spoke out about a government policy or leader. Americans are so worried about being bullied. Well you don't know what bullying is until you have been bullied by a socialist dictatorship and the spineless demagogues that they place in power over you.

They will tell you horror stories about free national healthcare. Which means you only get the healthcare that the government decides you should get. If you need a life saving surgery, you are not guaranteed to get it in time to save your life. You and your doctor do not decide what medical procedures you need and what will be covered by the government health plan. Some procedures they refuse you all together. For example, not all people who need lifesaving rounds of chemo for cancer will even be offered it. Heroic life saving methods are not abundantly available nor or they offered. For example, what if you need an organ transplant? Now the party leaders and loyal party members and their local party enforcers and snitches they still get preferred treatment. How is that equal, but you could be shot if you speak up and protest against the socialist government that promised you free healthcare and access to doctors and hospitals. I know a family in China and their little girl was born with a cleft pallet deformity. They were basically told that if they wanted the little girl to get surgery to correct the deformity, they would have to raise the money and pay for it themselves. When you only make a few dollars a day and have other children to feed and care for, it is impossible to raise the money needed for the medical care you need when you need it. So much for FREE healthcare for ALL!

Now let's talk about the free college education that socialist governments promise. My tour guide in Russia told me that they test children as they enter the school system to see what aptitude or strengths or natural abilities the child might have. Then they basically tell you what you will be when you grow up. She showed strength in learning about history. Her education focused on her becoming a teacher of history. So that is what she had to study at college and she was expected to grow up and teach history. She had no say in that decision. She could not protest on her college campus and call out the socialist government that was forcing her to learn how to teach history. However, as Russia opened up to Western countries for tourism and a much-needed influx of cash, the government again decided that she was very knowledgeable about their history and monuments and palaces and museums and would make a good tour guide for Western tourist. She had a family by now and she had to work long days on a tour bus and she had to work weekends and basically whenever the cruise ships were in port. The cruise companies pay the Russian government and she gets paid what the government decides her wage should be. She was not free to negotiate a better salary or better hours or go to work for the competition, because there is NO competition allowed with the government.
